

Sewer House Connections (for Builders and Plumber):

The inspection tee for the private plumbing connection is a simple rubber ring joint from the sewer house connection pipework as per SEQ standards.

Due to this, when excavated and exposed for connection, this fitting is often displaced. This fitting must be checked and readjusted to ensure fall has been maintained prior to connection. If there is concern backfall might existing in the pipework past the inspection tee, please contact the developer immediately, prior to connection or backfilling so it can be checked and rectified if required.

No backfall claims will be investigated unless evidence of these checks can be provided.
